Please read this entire document. It contains very important information regarding specific mutual fund closings and intermediary client requirements.

Fund Name	Ticker	CUSIP
T. Rowe Price International Discovery Fund	PRIDX	77956H302
T. Rowe Price International Discovery Fund—I class	TIDDX	77956H377

The Board of Directors for the Fund listed above and its I Class (the “Fund”) has decided to close the Fund to new investors on Monday, April 2, 2018. No new accounts can be established in these Funds after the close of the New York Stock Exchange (typically 4 p.m. ET) on that day. This decision does not affect participants in plans that currently offer the Fund. Participants who already have an account in this Fund may continue to buy additional shares, and those who do not may establish new accounts through the plan.

To further assist you in your understanding of the policies and client requirements for this Fund closing, we have updated our Financial Intermediary web site to provide you with detailed information that you and other areas of your firm may need to understand and manage fund closings internally where appropriate. Please click on the following link or copy and paste the URL address into your web browser:
